

200207325-1

ABSTRACT

A method of providing web content for a printing device includes attaching a memory module storing the web content to a printing device consumable.